

MANUEL
OSBORNE PARADIS

HELLO. I'M MANUEL OSBORNE PARADIS.

(JUST CALL ME MANNY)

Born in North Vancouver, Manny grew up skiing the deep bowls and steep couloirs of Whistler, but now lives and trains in bustling Calgary, Alberta. A two-time Olympic downhill racer, his speed and tenacity on the slopes have earned him three World Cup wins, nine podiums and a reputation as one of the world's top downhill contenders.

His competitive spirit on the hill is only matched by his fun-loving personality off of it, which includes running an annual charity kids ski camp in Whistler and playing the occasional game of golf. During the 2012–13 season, he won the Canadian downhill title and was ranked 13th in the world. And this season, he's set to go even faster.
